

September 24 update from Hot Springs, Montana

FIRE BAN IS LIFTED. There have been two rainy periods since the last update. The fire ban is lifted so people can have campfires. We will have community campfires, but you can bring your own fire set-up if you want. Firewood will be available for sale at the site for private campfires.

The weather is supposed to be nice during this week, but the current weather forecast if possibly showers on the weekend. Hot Springs is one of the driest parts in northwest Montana, so we often don't have rain here when other parts of northwest Montana do (or less).

Even if it does rain we hope it won't stop you from vending or attending. Just come prepared. The Harvest festival will go on rain or shine.

See you soon. Happy travel. Enjoy the scenery.

The Harvest Festival staff